Rail replacement buses

During engineering works and disruptions, rail replacement buses may be used for your journey.

If your train is replaced by a bus service due to planned engineering work or in an emergency, the local train operator will try to stop as near to the station as possible.

Every effort is made to inform passengers of the locations where the rail replacement bus service will pick up or set down passengers at stations.

You are strongly advised to check your journey on National Rail's website or call 08457 48 49 50.

Tickets and rail replacement bus services

Where ticket purchasing facilities exist, you will need to purchase a ticket prior to boarding a replacement bus service. If you do not purchase a ticket where facilities exist, you may be refused travel.
